Getting Better

New competition for 2005 announced

Following the resounding success of last year's Looking Good competition there is to be a follow up this year. Once again there will be three categories: Best Kept Garden, Best Kept Business Premises and Best Kept Public Space. Prizes will be in the form of DIY vouchers and judging will be done in the run up to the Summer Celebration.

The competition will be organised by the Neighbourhood Wardens and entry forms will be available from them in April. In the meantime you can register your interest in the competition by ringing 01274 731678.

Wardens are with us until 2008

The Neighbourhood Wardens celebrated their first year live out on the streets in October with a celebration lunch.

The well attended event included speeches made by local residents about their experiences of the wardens. At the same time it was announced that the Trident Board of Directors had approved the warden's contracts which have now been extended until March 2008.

This means the team can continue the good work they have been doing reducing crime and the fear of crime in our neighbourhoods.

Other news from the wardens...

Cath Donates CD player

Neighbourhood Warden Cath Stone won a CD/radio stereo in a raffle run by Parkside Youth Initiative in order to raise funds to get their minibus back on the road.

This stereo was then subsequently donated by Cath to a local elderly resident that had been the victim of a recent aggravated burglary.

The intruder had threatened the old lady with a hammer before making off with her purse and other items including her stereo.

New notice board goes up

An information and notice board, pictured, is now in place in Spring Mill children's play area and can be seen from the Spring Mill Street entrance.

The idea for a notice board was initiated by children from Light of the World Church who wanted to alert dog owners not to allow their dogs to mess in the park. The Neighbourhood Wardens took up the idea, got the funds to provide it and will be maintaining it.

If anyone wants to use the facility please contact the Neighbourhood Wardens on 731678.
